

There are some points I would like to share regarding this experience.

1. When we set aside our differences and work toward the common good, we can achieve honorable goals.
2. We are not always going to agree on every issue, nor on how to deal with issues.
3. Persistence pays off. Cooler heads prevail.
4. As individuals, we are responsible to activate change.
5. I have come to appreciate and respect my neighbors.
6. No one is above being held accountable for his/her actions.
7. When our government doesn't work to protect and serve our welfare, we must work together to fix it.

Check out the online archives section of local newspapers for articles on the subject.

Investigate court proceedings by visiting the Wisconsin Circuit Court Access System webpage.

Exercise open records searches.

Prepare information packets.

Identify "target" recipients, i.e. agencies and officials.

Organize phone campaigns.

Conduct letter-writing efforts.

Enlist support local and statewide.

Stay focused and on topic.

Respectfully submitted,

Jean A. Sage
jeanasage@hotmail.com